Title:	CENTRALIZED BILLING CREDIT SYSTEM UTILIZING A PREDETERMINED UNIT OF USAGE

DECLARATION OF PRIOR INVENTION UNDER 37 C.F.R. § 1.131

Commissioner for Patents
P.O. Box 1450
Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

Dear Sir/Madam:

This Declaration is submitted to establish prior invention of the subject matter of the present patent application in the United States. The person making this Declaration is the inventor Craig R. White.

Accompanying this Declaration are Exhibits A through D to establish conception of the subject matter of the present patent application prior to the earliest effective date of September 7, 2001 of the Lamming et al. US Publication No. 2003/0050963 coupled with due diligence from prior to the earliest effective date of the Lamming publication up to the filing date of the present patent application (i.e., constructive reduction to practice).

Exhibit A (4 pages) includes a copy of HP Invention Disclosure No. 10011785 submitted by the inventor Craig R. White and received by the HP Legal Department prior to the earliest effective date of the Lamming et al. US Publication No. 2003/0050963. This invention disclosure describes subject matter of the present patent application.

Exhibit B (1 page) includes a copy of an email dated August 9, 2001, a date prior to the earliest effective date of September 7, 2001 of the Lamming et al. US Publication No. 2003/0050963, from patent attorney Bryan Webster of the law firm Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering to inventor Craig R. White forwarding a revised draft of HP Application 10011785-1 (i.e., the present patent application).

Exhibit C (1 page) includes a copy of a letter dated August 22, 2001, a date prior to the earliest effective date of September 7, 2001 of the Lamming et al. US Publication No. 2003/0050963, from patent attorney Bryan Webster of the law firm Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering to HP Legal Assistant Terri Walker forwarding the Declaration and Assignment for the patent application based on HP Invention Disclosure No. 10011785-1 (i.e., the present patent application) for signature by the inventor. The letter also includes comments dated August 29, 2001, a date prior to the earliest effective date of September 7, 2001 of the Lamming et al. US Publication No. 2003/0050963, and comments dated September 15, 2001.

Exhibit D (1 page) includes a copy of a letter dated September 18, 2001 from patent attorney Bryan Webster of the law firm Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering to HP Legal Assistant Terri Walker forwarding the Declaration and Assignment for the patent application based on HP Invention Disclosure No. 10011785-1 (i.e., the present patent application) for signature by the inventor. The letter also includes comments dated September 21, 2001, and September 25, 2001.

Subsequently, on October 16, 2001, the patent application based on HP Invention Disclosure No. 10011785-1 (i.e., the present patent application) was filed.

From these exhibits, it can be seen that the subject matter of the present patent application was conceived in the United States prior to the earliest effective date of September 7, 2001 of the Lamming et al. US Publication No. 2003/0050963 coupled with due diligence from prior to the earliest effective date of the Lamming publication up to the filing date of the present patent application (i.e., constructive reduction to practice).

As a person signing below, I hereby declare that all statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and further that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under Section 1001 of Title 18 of the United States Code, and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issued thereon.

Description of Invention: Please preserve all records of the invention and attach additional pages for the following. Each additional page should be signed and dated by the inventor(s) and witness(es).
A.	Description of the construction and operation of the invention (include appropriate schematic, block, & timing diagrams; drawings; samples; graphs; flowcharts; computer listings; test results; etc.) This invention allows for a billing system used for a network of printers that creates a token bank that describes printing usage credits and debits. Each user starts with a configured number of tokens for printing in the bank such as 50. Each type of job/device combination requires a certain number of tokens. Anytime you print on someone else's printer part of the charge for printing creates a token credit in their account and part is a credit in the network account. This also results in a debit for the person printing. When someone uses your printer you get a credit to your account of tokens. At each appropriate billing period (such as month-end) any user with a negative balance will have their location charged for usage. Anyone with a positive balance will carry that over to the next period.
B.	Advantages of the invention over what has been done before. Delays transfer of funds and business transactions until appropriate for the business. Rewards users for allowing their printers to be used by others. Allows a dollar value to be applied to specific devices. Creates a more accessible set of printers for a company.
C.	Problems solved by the invention. Encourages use of printers by others. Tracks usage and bills appropriately. Does a more effective job of billing at the macro level not the micro level. Can map to external business opportunities for other companies.
D.	Prior solutions and their disadvantages (if available, attach copies of product literature, technical articles, patents, etc.). None.

Mr. White, thank you very much for your comments regarding the draft application. Enclosed as attachments please find a revised draft application with the changes illustrated in blue, the revised figure 1 and the other figures for your convenience. I attempted to illustrate the debit/credit token model in the specification and claims as you suggested.

Please review and feel free to bring any issue to my attention.

Thanks
